

First, observe the child
either in a planned activity
or during a planned assessment.

Next, record the child completing the task or participating in the specific activity.

Use the information from your assessment to plan for the future. Adapt lessons, activities, and elements of the program to meet to the needs of your learners.

